

THE DISABLED OFFICERS' GARDEN HOMES

MACDONNELL GARDENS
LEAVESDEN, WATFORD
HERTFORDSHIRE
WD25 7AG

The Disabled Officers' Garden Homes is a Registered Charity which provides a small tranquil estate of twelve bungalows for disabled ex-officers and their families. The estate is located at Macdonnell Gardens, Leavesden just outside Watford. The Officers' Association is the current Trustee and it is planned for Haig Housing Trust to take over in April 2011.

The bungalows are situated on a delightfully secluded two-acre site, and positioned facing an attractive central communal garden planted with shrubs and roses that is bounded by a private access road. Each bungalow has two to three bedrooms, together with a lounge-cum-dining room, kitchen and bathroom. Full gas central heating is provided throughout the accommodation. All the bungalows have a small open front garden with parking space in front and good size back gardens each with a garage at the rear. There are separate rear entrance drives to the garages.

The bungalows and communal garden are maintained to a high standard by Haig Housing Trust. Shops and other amenities are close at hand, together with easy access to fast road and rail links to London and other parts of the country.

Residents pay a very modest monthly maintenance contribution, which does not reflect the high standard of accommodation provided. The Officers' Association coordinates applications and also provides the residents with welfare support as required.

Any ex-officer interested in becoming a resident will be asked to complete an application form with medical and personal references, and attend an informal interview with a panel of Officers' Association Trustees.
